Shooting is ruled accidental

A Tuesday shooting incident, which took the life of 49-year-old Eula Lee Miller of the Caesar Community, has been ruled accidental by Hancock County Coroner Carl Banderet.

According to reports, the woman was found Tuesday morning by her son, Rembert Hinton, Jr., who lived next door. The woman's body was found in a wooded area behind her home. Officials said the woman died from a single blast in the chest from an automatic .16 gauge shotgun. It was reported that Mrs. Miller frequently went hunting in the woods behind her home. There was no indication of foul play in the shooting, according to officials.

Funeral services for Mrs. Miller will be held today at 2 p.m. at the Union (Continued on page 4)

Girl recovering from snake bite

A six-year-old Hancock County girl was reportedly bitten by a copperhead snake earlier this week and is recuperating in a Gulfport hospital.

According to reports, Betsy Marie Ahlers, Rt. 1, Box 431, Pass Christian, was admitted Monday to Gulfport Memorial Hospital suffering from a bite on her left foot. At last report, she was listed in "fairly good" condition in the pediatric ward of the hospital.

She was transferred to Gulfport Memorial by Mobile Medic after being taken to Hancock General Hospital in Bay St. Louis.

Scientist clarifies testimony; DuPont effluent claimed safe

by JAKE JACOB

The statement attributed to Dr. Robert Woodmansee of the Gulf Coast Research Laboratory, Ocean Springs, concerning the effect on marine life of proposed effluent discharge into the Bay of St. Louis from the now building DuPont titanium dioxide plant on the Bay of St. Louis was yesterday denied.

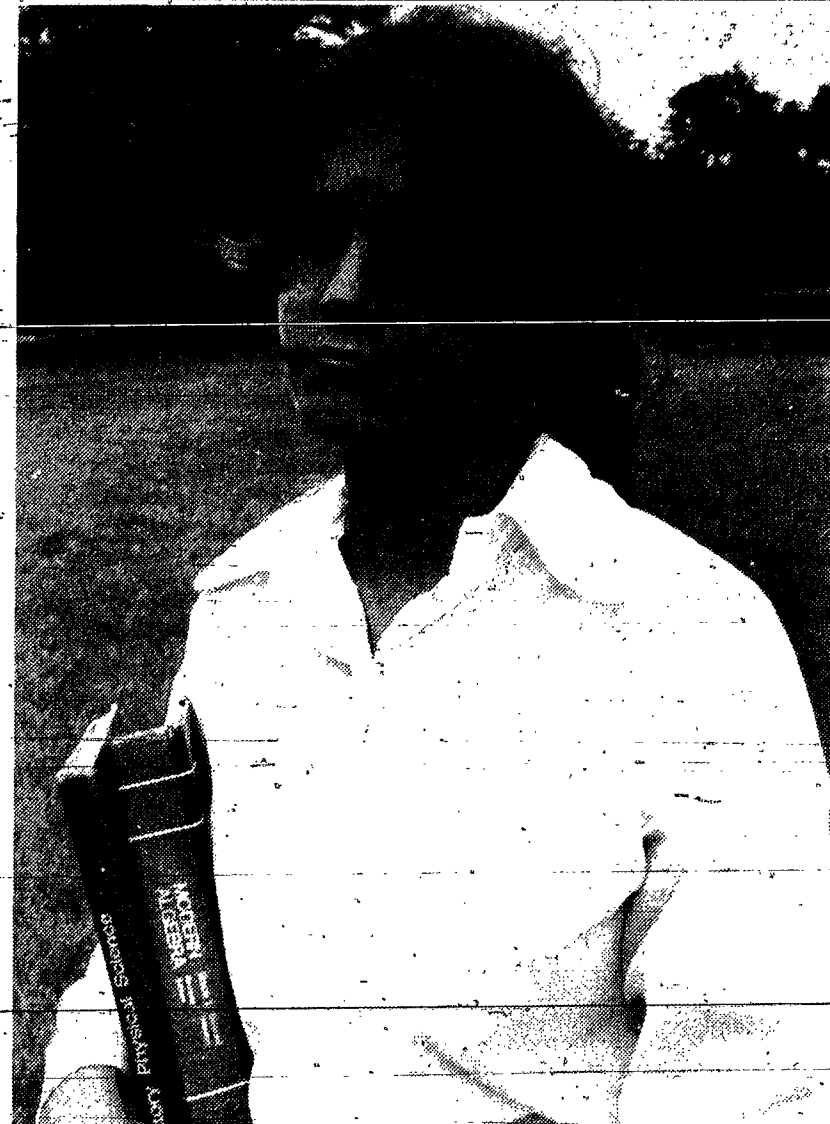

Woodmansee, testifying before the Mississippi Air and Water Control Board (MAWCC) said that "...considerable misunderstanding..." has resulted from his being quoted as saying last July that the plant's effluent would kill shrimp in the Bay of St. Louis.

The testimony was judged the highlight of Tuesday's hearing by the MAWCC on whether it should revoke, modify, or affirm its 1975 waste water permit to DuPont for its $150 million titanium dioxide plant.

The hearing, which has stretched its sessions over several months, is being held at the insistence of the State Supreme Court. The court, in an earlier judgement stated a 1974 MAWCC hearing "did not" satisfy the requirements of the law.

A coast group, Save The Bay, Inc., is protesting the permit, granted to DuPont after the 74 hearing.

Dr. Woodmansee, told the MAWCC board Tuesday, "I did not say that shrimp would be killed."

He said there was a considerable amount of misunderstanding about his testimony July 13, and "...part of that was my fault."

He told the board that subsequent tests by the Gulf Coast Research Laboratory on brown shrimp - a species similar to the white shrimp in previous tests - resulted in no fatalities.

Woodmansee said there are some unresolved questions about the original tests because of the high number of deaths, even among the unexposed group of shrimp, those which were not

JACKSON, Miss., Aug. 24 - An official of the Environmental Protection Agency today said the water effluent from the DuPont plant under construction near DeLisle, Miss., "will not degrade Bay St. Louis."

Dr. W. Lamar Miller, head of the organic chemicals industry effluent guidelines section of the EPA in Washington, testified before the Mississippi Air and Water Pollution Control Commission. He was called as a witness by Save The Bay, Inc., a group opposing construction of the plant.

Dr. Miller also told the hearing "I cannot think of any TIO2 permit which is tighter on suspended solid limits than DeLisle." DuPont's plant will manufacture titanium dioxide (TIO2), which is used as a pigment. Save The Bay has contended the permit is too lenient.

In another discussion, Dr. Miller was asked by Save The Bay if volume flows into the Bay of St. Louis from the plant should be regulated in the permit. He responded that flow regulations are "neither relevant nor appropriate."

Save The Bay also asked Dr. Miller if he knew of any pressures DuPont had exerted in its effort to obtain permits for the plant. "DuPont is a worthy adversary," he said, "...a tough negotiator," but he knew of no objectionable behavior.

Rock pile halt sought

A Bill of Complaint filed in Hancock County Chancery Court on Aug. 18, signed by eight individual complainants, against the City of Bay St. Louis, the Hancock County Board of Supervisors, and the Clement R. Bontemps American Legion Post No. 139, seeks to cause any and all of the defendants to refrain from any further extension of the rock pile at the foot of Washington St., Bay St. Louis and to restore the land involved to its previous contours.

Football contest enters 2nd year; winners sought

The Sea Coast Echo will begin its annual football contest this Sunday. A special page in Sunday's Echo by merchants from the Bay-Waveland area, will open activities. Listed in the 12 advertisements on this page will be a like number of football games. The object of the contest is to predict the winners of the 12 games. The person who comes the closest wins $10 from the Echo with the runner-up receiving $5.

All entries must be received by noon on Wednesday of the following week so the winner can be announced in Thursday's paper. In case of a tie, the player coming closest to the total number of points in the tie-breaker will be declared the winner.

Just fill in the teams you think will win. If they do - then so do you. It's that simple.

Bay locks 78 meters

BY ELLIS CUEVAS

Mayor Larry Bennett in one of the hardest decisions that the new council has had to make ordered 78 meters locked yesterday. The action was the result of council action taken August 2.

The 78 accounts represented a figure of $19,111.90 in arrears. There are more gas customers facing similar action if their bills are not brought up to date according to Mayor Larry Bennett.

Mayor Bennett said, "this is one of the hardest decisions the Council has had to make, but action had to be taken, since the city has an excess of $50,000 in delinquent gas bills."

This total comprised a total of less than 10 percent of our gas customers. The council feels that it is unfair to have 90 percent paying their bills and 10 percent not doing so.

Many of these bills have been overdue since the last winter season.

Two county men killed in pickup truck wreck

Two Hancock County residents were killed last Sunday afternoon when the pickup truck in which they were traveling ran off the road and overturned.

According to the Hancock County Sheriff's Department, the men were identified as Richard M. Phillips, 34, of Rt. 3, Picayune and David K. Johansen, 18, of Rt. 2, Picayune. Officers said Phillips was the driver of the 1977 GMC truck and Johansen was a passenger.

The accident occurred between 2:15 and 2:30 p.m. at the Caesar-Necaise Road near the Catahoula Bridge. According to reports, the driver apparently lost control of the vehicle at an excessive rate of speed. The truck left the road, traveled approximately 345 feet, jumped the creek and overturned several times.

Phillips was listed as dead at the scene; Johansen was DOA at Picayune Hospital.

The accident was investigated by Deputy Sheriff Delbert Seay and assisted by Deputy Leo Woods.

Background-and a DeLisle plant progress report by Du Pont

By DUPONT COMPANY
PUBLIC AFFAIRS DEPT., WILLMINGTON, DEL.

Hearings before the Mississippi Air and Water Pollution Control Commission (MAWCC) resume on Aug. 22, 1977, in Jackson, on a National Pollutant Discharge Elimination System (NPDES) permit originally issued to the DuPont Company in Feb. 1975 for its titanium dioxide plant in DeLisle, Miss. Two previous hearings - June in Jackson, and July in Gulfport, - were held. The hearings are a result of a Mississippi Court ruling in Nov. 1976.

Current status

In July 1974 the DuPont Company announced its intention to build a titanium dioxide (TIO2) plant in coastal Mississippi. The announcement was made following completion of preliminary studies covering utilities, transportation, manpower, environment (land, air and water) and geologic suitability. Since that time, the project for a plant to produce 150,000 tons of TIO2 annually has proceeded on many fronts. The estimated cost of construction exceeds $150 million. The plant will initially employ about 550 people, with more than 85 percent from Mississippi.

At present, DuPont is in the early stages of building on a 2,200-acre plant site located on the Bay of St. Louis, about 15 miles west of Gulfport. The current major activity on the site at DeLisle, involves earth preparation and laying foundations for buildings, roads, and other necessary facilities. A $3 million contract was awarded in Sept. 1976 to Necaise Construction Company, Inc. of Pass Christian, to move more than one million cubic yards of earth. Work began in November 1976 and will continue in stages over an 18-month period. In addition, concrete for building foundations will be poured in the next few months and major steel framework for the buildings will be constructed this fall. The plant is scheduled to be completed in 1979.

To begin construction, it has been necessary for DuPont to obtain or make application for 31 permits from various federal, state and local agencies. Nine permits pertain to the quality; three relate to air quality; four are to build a railroad spur; and 15 more cover miscellaneous purposes.

Economics of plant to community

The DuPont plant at DeLisle will have a positive economic impact on the community and the finances of the State of Mississippi. During the peak construction period employment will be over 1,000 people, with the vast majority expected to be from the local area. Construction wages will total $25 million over a two and one-half year span. Presently, about 400 people are working at the site, with 98 percent of them from Mississippi.

When in full production, the annual payroll for the plant is forecast to exceed $8 million. Employee benefits, such as dental plan, life and health insurance, thrift plan, paid vacations and noncontributory retirement income will add more than 30 percent to annual wages. Employment opportunities will include electricians, instrument mechanics, pipefitters, carpenters, welders, process operators and technicians, accountants, and clerical and administrative personnel. Eleven supervisory persons have already been hired from Mississippi and will be trained at existing DuPont TIO2 plants.

Local purchases of goods and services are expected to approach $15 million annually, with an additional $10 million spent in southern Mississippi for purchase of materials and services during construction of the plant.

Examples of goods and services required from local suppliers during the operation of the plant include trucking, wood pallet construction, specialized equipment fabrication and repair, bricklaying, paving.

Mississippi, like other states, wants new industry. To encourage settlement, Mississippi has enacted certain taxes and tax incentives favorable to business and industry. DuPont will pay in excess of $1 million in taxes each year. In addition, the state will derive revenue from income, sales, and excise type taxes and from licenses and fees.

DuPont intends to be a community asset

DuPont's intent is to produce TIO2, safely, without harm to the environment, and be a good neighbor. From the inception of the DeLisle project, DuPont has dealt openly and directly with local citizens and groups; and with agencies and government officials of Mississippi.

DuPont personnel have met with more than 2,000 Coast area citizens in more than 40 formal meetings, as well as in many informal sessions. Groups have ranged from local volunteer fire companies and church organizations to Chambers of Commerce and bank economic seminars. A wide variety of questions has been fielded in these discussions, including background on the company, the product, the process, environmental safeguards, job opportunities and many other local concerns.

The company is sensitive to the environmental aesthetics of an industrial plant located in a rural community of great natural beauty. The plant will occupy about 200 acres of the approximately 2,200-acre site. The remainder of the site will be maintained in the foreseeable future in its natural forest state to provide a greenbelt buffer area. A 900-acre saltwater marsh will provide a buffer between the bay and the developed area of the site. Longer term, expansion is possible and can be accomplished at some time in the future with little or no disruption to the surrounding community.

DuPont has employed Rangerbase Inc. of Gulfport, a professional forestry consulting firm, to provide advice concerning environmental protection of the area during construction, fire prevention, timber improvement and forest management. To date, activities completed in this area include:

1. Fencing off of lowlands from the construction area to insure they remain undamaged.
 2. Installing security fencing and posting of the area.
 3. Planting wildlife food plots to assist in the continuing preparation of wildlife.

ORDER TREE SEEDLINGS

The Mississippi Forestry Commission is taking tree seedling orders for the 1977-78 planting season. Some 12 tree species are offered for sale this year. Southern pine seedlings are still $11 per 1,000, while cottonwood cuttings, other hardwoods and Christmas trees are $24 per 1,000. Southern pines are sold in bundles of 25 for $1. Hardwoods and other species are sold in bundles of 100 for $2.40.

Your county agent's office and the Forestry Commission will assist landowners in determining the species and number of seedlings needed.

WINTER GRAZING

Many areas of Mississippi have not had enough rain to produce surplus grass for winter feed. If you don't have enough home-raised winter feed, consider planting ryegrass. This can be done on a prepared, seeded or overseeded on permanent summer pasture. Although planting ryegrass may be expensive, it is cheaper than other alternatives, such as buying hay or grain.

SAFETY-FIRST

Always put safety first when working in grain storage bins. Grain flowing to an unloader or a collapsing pocket of bridged grain in a storage bin can pull a person under the grain surface. To prevent this, shut off the unloader before stepping onto the grain surface. Also, secure a rope around your body just below the armpits before entering the bin to break grain that has bridged. Be sure there is someone on the other end of the rope to give support.

SOYBEAN INSECTS

Soybeans do not have a key insect pest, but occasional outbreaks of various insects may warrant insecticide application. August and September are critical months. Foliage damage is easy to recognize on older plants having small, tender pods. Producers should also watch for pod-feeding insects such as bollworms and stinkbugs. Soybeans can tolerate up to a 35 percent foliage loss before pod set. However, during pod set and pod fill, a foliage loss of 20 to 25 percent may dictate treatment.

February is hospitality center month

The contract for building the tourist station at the intersection of I-10 and Highway 607 in Hancock County will be let in February of 1978, and completion will be in 12 to 15 months, announced "Shag" Pylon, Commissioner for the Southern District at a meeting in the office of the Highway Commission in Jackson on Tuesday.

"The site preparation now in progress, will be completed in 42 working days," added Pylon, "and the building will be outstanding in design. Adequate signing will be provided for the Hospitality Center, but at the present time the access road to the location will be from Highway 607 and not from I-10," said Pylon. It is hoped that arrangements can be made to have the access road from I-10 and the exit from Hwy. 607."

Present at the meeting, presided over by John Tabb, director of the Highway Commission, was a delegation of leading citizens of the Gulf Coast.

These included Jolly McCarty, chairman of the Gulf Coast Council of Chambers of Commerce, State Representatives, Jim Simpson, and J. P. Street but withdrew its names because apparently our intentions and purpose had been misunderstood and misconstrued. We had no intentions of hurting individuals who apparently were included under the umbrella-type term used to define the defendants. So on behalf of these persons and for their sake we withdrew from the suit.

St. Stanislaus was initially party to the bill-of-complaint to prohibit the continued dumping just off Washington Street because of the legal and ecological implications of this obstruction in the Bay.

The State of Mississippi has enacted the Wetlands Protection Law and no one may increase the dimension, size, or scope of the rock pile without first obtaining a permit from the Mississippi Marine Resources Council, the United States Army Corps of Engineers, and other governmental agencies. I am not aware of the fact that such permits have been obtained from any of the agencies concerned. Apparently there is a question of legality with respect to the construction under consideration.

As a result of this dumping in the Bay, the free ebb and flow of the tide has been stopped and the contour of the shoreline has changed and will continue to change. Apparently the property rights of the owners of the lots bordering this area of the Bay have been violated. As a result of the change in the shoreline, the sponsors of this obstruction have taken, contrary to law, lands held in public trust for the State of Mississippi.

The rock pile has shut off the ebb and flow of the water thereby causing the northern shoreline to become accumulated with offensive and unsightly marsh, grass, and mud. As a result of this accumulation the waters of this area have become stagnant and polluted. The rock pile and resultant muck and stagnant areas constitute eyesores and as such are not a credit to the people of Bay St. Louis.

amount of $375,000.

Warner, now dead, sustained injuries to the neck and shoulders as the result of his diving off the municipal pier being built into the Bay at the foot on Dunbar Ave., on July 4, 1969.

He was paralyzed from the neck down as a result of the incident, and died in late 1975.

Attorneys for the city said later that at the time of the previous appeal they were not aware of Warner's death, a matter they said could have possibly influenced the court had the information been made known.

Mayor Bennett said yesterday that he had not yet met with the attorneys to discuss the next legal step in the proceedings.

Neither, he said, had he had the opportunity of discussing the case with full council since the court decision was made known.

He said it is his personal opinion that while the family has his deepest sympathy he feels the decision by the judge is most unfair.

"It is a shame to burden all the city of Bay St. Louis with this debt as the result of the carelessness of one person.

"The pier concerned was not finished at the time of occurrence and Warner, then 16, had to jump and climb over a boarded entrance to get out on the incomplete structure."

The mayor said he cannot blame any of the previous administrations adding, "...it was just something that happened."

Bennett added that the court had not yet handed down its mandate so he was unaware of its exact terms.

"While recognizing a human life cannot have any dollar value placed upon it, each life being unique and too precious, and feeling strongly that the family is justified and entitled to receive some adequate compensation for the loss of its son, I do not think payment of the full amount is justified, especially in view of the now known facts."

"If the city has to pay the $375,000, plus interest, this will present us with the most serious financial crisis Bay St. Louis has ever faced," Bennett concluded.

Sources state the city could appeal the case to the U.S. Supreme Court, an action unlikely to take place until after a full vote of council.

subjected to any of the effluent.

"There are two possible reasons for that," Woodmansee testified, adding, "It is possible that the white shrimp are susceptible to the simulated effluent while the brown are not, or that the white shrimp used in the earlier tests were in such poor health that they died as a result of their poor health."

On another subject, Dr. Woodmansee told the board that chromium is a human dietary requirement as well as a carcinogen suspect.

During Monday's testimony by a witness for Save The Bay, Inc., there were allegations that harmful amounts of chromium would be discharged into the Bay.

"There are a fair number of people in the United States who are marginal in chromium content and there may be some who are chromium deficient."

"Each human being must daily replace the amount of chromium which is lost by urine."

In fact, a dietary deficiency of chromium is of greater concern than a chromium excess," Dr. Woodmansee said.

Du Pont plant manager Gordon B. Howell, said yesterday that he was gratified by the statement of Woodmansee concerning his July statement.

Howell also stated he was dismayed at the continuing reference by Save The Bay, Inc. to chromium since the plant will not add chromium to the Bay.

"They are beating a dead horse," Howell concluded.

The Gulf Coast Research Laboratory was selected by DuPont to recommend and perform a $900,000 baseline survey of the Bay of St. Louis, to define the pre-plant status of St. Louis Bay.

The survey consists of 14 separate studies, and will include 12 months of field sampling and measurements within a total 23-month period.

The purpose of the survey is to monitor and establish the existing environmental parameters around the DeLisle site prior to facilities start-up. The data will be used during plant operation by comparing conditions before and after plant operation to prevent damage to the environment.

Born in Bay St. Louis in 1912, Arnold attended Bay Senior High School, entering into employment with the store in 1928.

Now 65, he intends to pursue his favorite hobby of fishing and his second favorite hobby of carpentry work inside the house, in that sequence of priority.

He said yesterday that since his joining the utilities department it has more than doubled in both size and demand.

Responsible for the water, gas, and sewer installations and operations, he originally intended to retire some three years ago but was asked by the city commissioners to remain during their term of office.

With the change of government, he then asked if he could leave upon their assuming office but was prevailed upon to extend his service an additional six weeks to permit a smooth transfer of work load.

Arnold said he intended to "take it easy..." for a while and then maybe get a part time job to keep from getting bored.

Hecker named Sea Grant new associate director

Stanley Hecker has assumed the duties of Associate Director of Programs for the Mississippi-Alabama Sea Grant Consortium. The Consortium administers a program of research, education, and advisory services relating to the marine and coastal area. It is comprised of nine institutions of higher learning in the two states, and administrative offices are located on the campus of the Gulf Coast Research Laboratory.

In his new position, Hecker will be responsible for determining the research needs of the coastal areas of Mississippi and Alabama and developing programs to meet those needs. Hecker has had extensive experience in marine related activities. Prior to accepting this new post, he was Deputy Director and Assistant Director for Special Projects, North Carolina Office of Marine Affairs. In this position he was responsible for coordinating the planning and implementation of all programs, relating to the marine and coastal resources of North Carolina. In addition, he served as the first Executive Director of the North Carolina Coastal Resources Commission, the agency responsible for developing that state's coastal area management program. He also acted as the state representative for Outer Continental Shelf related matters.

Before joining the Office of Marine Affairs in North Carolina, Hecker served for twenty-seven years on active duty in the Navy. His service included assignments in Research, Development, Test and Evaluation; Submarine, Diving and Salvage Safety; Management; Operation's Management; Hydrographic and Topographic Surveying; Command at Sea.

Hecker has done research in estuarine circulations, continental shelf dynamics, coastal processes, coastal zone management, and coastal and ocean engineering. He received a B.S. degree from the New York State Maritime College in Marine Engineering and a M.S. degree in Physical Oceanography from Old Dominion University. In addition, he has done advanced work toward a Ph.D. in Marine Science at North Carolina State University in Raleigh.

Consolidation - parents are taking the next move

The unexpected support received this week on the consolidation of schools issue is heartening and represents the first comments by leaders in this county.

Too, the comments of a group of parents directly involved in the issue have opened the door to yet another possibility, a combination of grouping not yet considered.

At the end of July an editorial - the fifth in this consolidation series - reviewed alternates available under consolidation and mini-consolidation - as well as suggesting that one of these was to receive the attention of legal minds this month.

Two areas of dispute arose from the initial proposals advanced in the editorials.

One of these concerned a (somewhat ill conveyed) suggestion that Hancock North Central be converted into a vocational high school, leaving the pure academics to Bay High, and the other that instead of lessening the transportation problem, such an arrangement would serve only to make it worse.

This year we have about four million dollars taken out of our taxes for schools.

Of course, all of it doesn't come directly from local taxes, but the bite is enough to severely limit alternate services possible but denied the taxpayer due to the sheer weight of the educational facilities demand.

This, plus a definite feeling of academic advantages and their being even more vividly aware of the transportation demands, led the group of parents to state that while the advanced SI-10 (South of Interstate Highway 10) plans were in themselves worthy, they failed to include the alternate they sought.

Again, in recap, the original SI-10 plan as represented here was that all students of junior and senior high school age living in the county south of Interstate Highway 10 would attend school facilities of the Bay-Waveland Municipal Separate School System, and students of like age living north of that line would continue to attend the county schools.

Opinion/Ellis Cuevas

A welcome disruption

We, as well as thousands of others, who drive down Main Street, Bay St. Louis will welcome the disruption caused by the coming Improvement Project.

The project, originally started under the previous administration is important, if the city is to continue growing. Their foresight should be commended.

We like the way our present administration is going about solving the problems (as many as they can foresee) the project will bring about. These include, planned detour route and the notification of residents in the immediate area as to how long the renovation will keep them from using Main Street as an access to their property by vehicle.

Making the public aware of the problems and seeking ways of solving them, shows our new administration has the welfare of their constituents in mind.

We can think of many plus factors coming from the Main Street Improvement Project.

To mention a few:

1. The added safety for pedestrians, especially school children, utilizing the new sidewalk.
2. Enough roadway for two cars to pass each other in opposite directions without having to slow down almost to a stop.
3. An easier access to the Downtown Business District.
4. An easier access for Downtown residents to reach the Highway Business District.
5. The increase in value of the property along the improved area.

These are just a few, we are sure that there are many more.

We should all praise the residents of the immediate area for their good attitude, because they will be inconvenienced the most during this important project.

This Improvement Project could lead to many more that we need in our community. Progress today is most important!

The later added SI-10-2 plan amended the line to include Diamondhead, and the SI-10-3 amendment had the county floating a bond issue to construct a second high school adjacent to the City of Waveland boundary - a facility designed to provide education to junior and senior high school students in the southwestern portion of the county and offer incentives to the bordering municipality to swell county school ranks.

Finally, the SI-10-4 arrangement called for a physical consolidation of all educational facilities within the aforementioned boundaries, leaving the county proper its centrally located facility.

The plan favored by the parents however is closer to the reality of consolidation than either of the SI-10 plans, but may lack fiscal practicability. It does however represent the first sound step in reducing the double administrative load and the streamlining of school services to the taxpayer.

Under the "parents plan" all buildings and facilities of both the county and municipalities laying to the south of Interstate 10 would be administered by the municipal system, with Hancock North Central School remaining inside the county orbit for administration and operation.

Students living inside the new district lines would attend the elementary and secondary facilities currently being operated - those to the south of I-10 to have school to the south, and those to the north to attend Hancock North Central (all grades).

While this closely parallels the SI-10 proposals it seems the financing for such a scheme is to come from per pupil payments made by the county to the municipality, with the county further providing transportation - and presumably a fair proportion of teacher and other operating costs.

This plan, even though not perhaps the most ideal, is definitely a step in the right direction, although it can hardly be one guaranteed to win the plaudits of the county.

While mustering their forces for the forcoming confrontation, it would perhaps well suit "the parents" to expand their court issues to include the feasibility, both fiscal and practical, of having the county consolidate the school system under a single administration.

Students to the south of Interstate 10 (including Diamondhead), could thus legally be brought to the Bay-Waveland High School facility and those living north of this line transported to Hancock North Central.

Both high schools could be brought into the same curriculum offering and the Pearl River Vo-Tech Center utilized for those vocational activities sought, but not offered, on campus.

For the rest, the school board would be a single unit consisting of membership from both county and city, and, it is suggested, the superintendent be appointed by this group.

The mechanics of reorganization are not at all vague or unknown. Title 37, Chapter 7, Articles 1 through 17, School Laws of Mississippi, enacted by the legislature in 1973, seems to provide adequate base.

The original error was in the granting of legislative approval to the formation of more than 82 school districts within this state.

In making such decision however, the legislators in their wisdom, let avenue of correction be written into the law.

It maybe wise this county seeks travel these avenues, with or without the present push by anguished parents to correct the legislative slip.

What the legislature did, it can undo, and correct, should the courts not offer relief.

But, like much else, the application of local effort is very often superior to the forced push of state or federal regulation.

Whittlin' with Whittle

We failed to hand out our roses award recently to the city for their efforts in paving the hole on Second Street. Sorry about that, but a tip of the hat and roses to all.

There have been several clean-up efforts around Bay St. Louis recently and there is one area that just may have been overlooked. If that be the case, we might be in line to offer a suggestion. If one would attempt a stroll down the south side of Court Street, they might find it most difficult.

Overhanging trees and grass have a section of the sidewalk covered and it is almost impossible to remain on the walk at that certain point. There is also a certain amount of litter scattered along the way that sure gives a bad impression. Attention is sure needed.

We were all set to offer our compliments to those who fish on the Bay Bridge for their anti-litter work, but a Monday check turned us off. Someone apparently had a number of tight lines over the weekend and then put the knife to their catch. The remains remain on the bridge for all to see and smell. Not a very nice sight or smell.

We were sure happy to hear of the city's plans to crackdown on those who continue to dump garbage in our litter barrels. Now for a few tickets.

Speaking of tickets, you better watch your speed around town. The police department is working radar and "green stamps" are finding their way around. Slow down!

An interoffice difference of opinion has resulted in a search of Webster for the correct wording by a fellow employee. She told the other day of the city installing a "sewerage line" at a local home. We, along with another employee, got a chuckle at the expression one we had never heard before. We said it should have been "sewer line". St. Tuesday another employee, wise in his ways, sided with the female and we were asked to make a public apology. And we would, if we were wrong.

We were delighted to listen to the letter from the gentleman asking that something be done about the lights at the end of the Bay Bridge. As we have said before, the lights get turned wrong with each little wind and they are very hard to see as you motor into the Bay.

Noticed Wednesday they are still trying to fix the highway between Henderson Point and Pass Christian. With all the water we've had lately, it is surprising there has not been an accident due to water standing in the road. Warning signs would sure help.

Have a nice day.

The Peoples Business

JACKSON - The Mississippi Legislature is currently between special sessions which we hope will bring a final answer to legislative reapportionment problems that have been facing our state for twelve years. A special joint legislative committee has been created to develop a tentative plan of reapportionment and submit its recommendations to the Legislature for final approval by no later than October 14th.

The committee has been asked to seek advice from every possible source. In addition to the expert assistance they will be seeking, they will be talking with people throughout the state - possibly by conducting public hearings - in an effort to get their ideas on what they feel would be a proper reapportionment plan in their particular area of the state. By doing this, we might truthfully tell the courts that this is a plan of, by and for the people of the State of Mississippi.

The action these legislators must take during this special session may mean that some of them will be legislating themselves out of office. However, our Legislators are all dedicated public servants and sought their offices because they wanted to serve the people unselfishly. The task before them now is a difficult one, but I have the utmost confidence in each and every member of our Legislature and feel that each will view this task as an opportunity to perform a truly unselfish service for the people of Mississippi.

Reapportionment is a complicated subject that many people don't understand fully, but basically the problem is this: The United States Supreme Court has ruled in favor of what is commonly referred to as the "one man-one vote" principle. As it affects the Legislature, this means that each member must represent a similar number of people through a formula that does not weaken the voting strength of any segment of our society. In other words, it means that all legislators must represent a similar number of people, instead of having one legislator represent as few as 10,000 people while another may represent as many as 50,000.

It is my hope that this matter can be worked out by the Legislature, because I think it is a legislative duty, and not one of the courts.

Mississippi consumer report

FREE INSPECTION

Free inspections are "graciously" and "generously" provided by sellers to sell certain products.

This is prevalent in our area in termite businesses. The termite inspector informs you that you have termites or powder post beetles in your house and that his services must be used to eradicate them. If you choose to contract his services today, you receive a discount. Besides not applying the pesticides properly, the pest control operator may not use a recognized, effective pesticide. All pest control operators are licensed by the state of Mississippi. Require them to provide you with proof that they have license. Dealing with licensed operators will assure you that you have some recourse in your pest control problems.

DANCE STUDIOS

"I Shouldn't Have Danced All Night"

Most dance studios are very creditable, pleasant, and provide you with what you pay for. However, some dance studios prey on widows, widowers, and elderly people. They tell you that you can make new acquaintances, meet new friends, and become the life of the party by learning to dance. You sign up for an initial lesson and at the conclusion of that course, you are given a test to determine how well you have progressed. Regardless of the results of that test, you are told that you are doing better than average and qualify for an additional course. One lady was told this so many times that she eventually spent over $30,000 on dance lessons and will be over 100 years old before she can take them all. You don't have to give up dancing, being the life of the party, and making new friends - just watch out for those who promise you that and don't produce.

COMPUTER DATING

But Who Wants to Date a Computer?

Computer dating services are relatively new in this country, and few of them have many members. Membership costs exceed $500 in some cases. When you answer an ad for a computer dating service, do not rely on statements advertising many members in your area; some of these services will call the entire South your area. You may find yourself with a computer-matched date from Tennessee, Arkansas, or Alabama. Check with the service to find out exactly how many persons are members in your city or county. A lot of this, of course, depends on how far you wish to travel for a date and how much you're willing to pay.

Health tip

You can't really beat the heat.

Whether it's the heat or the humidity, or both, it's hot in almost all of the United States in July. After weeks of sweating and steaming, it's not uncommon to find the heat is beginning to wear you down.

You can't do anything about the outside temperature. You can avoid it if you're fortunate enough to work and live in airconditioned comfort, but it still will be hot outside.

The American Medical Association points out that there are some things you can do to be more comfortable - things that can help you beat the heat.

Stay out of the sun as much as possible, especially during the middle of the day when rays are hottest. Wear light, loose clothing. The ladies have the edge over the men in this respect. Drink more liquids than usual, but take extra salt only on your physician's advice, particularly if you have liver or kidney trouble or a heart condition.

Take a shower or dip in the pool once or twice a day to cool off. Get plenty of rest and sleep. Eat your regular diet and don't go overboard on cold cuts and salads, unless you like them anyway.

Get up early in the morning to do your heavy work on the lawn or garden. Or work at dusk in the evening, but try to avoid heavy exertion during the hottest hours of the day. There is sound physical reason behind the siesta custom of the tropics.

You need exercise in the summer as well in the winter, but don't overdo it, especially on extra hot days. Don't overdo physical exertion, whether at work or at play.

COMPLAINT
FOR INJUNCTION

Come now the above named Complainants and file this their Bill of Complaint for Injunction against the above named Defendants, and in support thereof would show, unto this Honorable Court the following facts, to-wit:

I. Complainants, with the exception of St. Stanislaus College, are adult resident citizens of, or real property owners in, Bay St. Louis, Mississippi. St. Stanislaus College, a Mississippi corporation, is an educational institution in Bay St. Louis, Hancock County, Mississippi.

II. The City of Bay St. Louis is an incorporated municipality and may be served with process by serving its Mayor, Larry Bennett, at City Hall, Second Street, Bay St. Louis, Mississippi. The Board of Supervisors for Hancock County, Mississippi, is the governing body for the County of Hancock, Mississippi, pursuant to state law and may be served with process by serving the Chancery Clerk of Hancock County, John D. Rutherford, Jr., at the office of the Chancery Clerk at the Hancock County Courthouse, Bay St. Louis, Mississippi. Defendant, Clement R. Bontemps American Legion Post No. 139, is an unincorporated association, and may be served with process by service upon its Commander, Horace Ruhr, at Nicholson Avenue, Waveland, Mississippi.

III. Complainants would show that they are the owners of real property fronting on the Gulf of Mexico or the Mississippi Sound in the vicinity of the rock pile off of Washington Street in the City of Bay St. Louis, Mississippi. Complainants would show further that they are entitled to certain littoral or riparian rights due to their ownership of real property abutting on the Gulf of Mexico or Mississippi Sound. Complainants would show that a jetty, or rock pile, has been constructed into the Gulf of Mexico or Mississippi Sound and that said rock pile extends into the water from Lot 249, Ward 3, of the City of Bay St. Louis which is owned by the Clement R. Bontemps American Legion Post 139, and leased to the City of Bay St. Louis. Complainants would show that the rock pile was constructed and continues to be constructed by a joint effort of the Defendants herein by, among other means, dumping rock and rip rap into the waters. Complainants would show unto this Court that the rock pile as it presently exists infringes upon their littoral or riparian rights as property owners in the manner hereinafter specified, and that as a result thereof Complainants are entitled to a hearing on this their Bill of Complaint for Injunction and that afterwards they are entitled to an Injunction prohibiting the extension or enlargement of the said rock pile, are entitled to have the rock pile removed or, in the alternative, are entitled to have openings cut into the rock pile, said openings being sufficiently large to allow the free ebb and flow of the tide through and under the rock pile so as to cleanse the water in the area.

IV. Each of the Complainants would show that the sole right of erecting any structure in front of any land bordering on the Gulf of Mexico or Mississippi Sound or waters tributary thereto belongs to the riparian owner and extends not more than 750 yards from the shore, measuring from the average low water mark. Complainants would show that as littoral or riparian owners, they are entitled to an Injunction prohibiting the extension or enlargement of the rock pile so that the rock pile will not be on waterbottoms subject to Complainants' littoral or riparian rights. Your Complainants would show further that part of the rock pile extends into an area in front of Complainants' property and interferes with and usurps Complainants' littoral rights.

V. Your Complainants would show that as a result of the construction of the rock pile, the free ebb and flow of the tide has been stopped and that the contour of the shoreline of their lots has changed and will continue to change. Your Complainants would show that they are entitled to an injunction requiring the restoration of their shoreline to its place, position, and contour prior to the construction of the rock pile.

VI. Your Complainants would show that as a result of the change in the shoreline, the Defendants herein have taken lands held in public trust for the State of Mississippi contrary to law and that by returning the shoreline to its original position, these lands and waters will be returned and restored to its rightful condition under the public trust for the benefit of the State of Mississippi.

VII. Your Complainants would show that the rock pile has shut off the ebb and flow of the tide thereby causing the shoreline north of the rock pile to become accumulated with offensive and unsightly marsh, grass, and mud. Complainants would show that they are entitled to have the rock pile removed or in the alternative to have openings made in the rock pile sufficiently large to allow the free and unimpeded ebb and flow of the tide to cleanse the shoreline and adjacent waters. Complainants would show further that they are entitled to have the shoreline returned to its condition as existed prior to the building of the rock pile and are entitled to have the shoreline located in that position which it occupied prior to the building thereof.

VIII. Complainants would show that as a result of the building of the rock pile the waters in front of Complainants land and north of the rock pile have become stagnant and polluted. Complainants would show that they are entitled to an injunction requiring the removal of the rock pile, or requiring openings cut into the rock pile sufficiently large to allow the free and unimpeded ebb and flow of the tide so as to flush and cleanse the waters over and into which their riparian rights extend.

IX. Complainants would show that the rock pile and the resultant muck, marsh, and stagnant areas constitute eyesores and as such are nuisances and that Complainants are entitled to have an injunction issued to require the removal thereof.

X. Complainants would show that the rock pile has been built in front of some or all of their property and less than 750 yards from shore, and as a result would show that they are entitled to an injunction requiring the removal thereof.

XI. Complainants would show that the State of Mississippi has enacted the Wetlands Protection Law and that as a result Defendants may not increase the dimension, size, or scope of the rock pile without first obtaining a permit from the Mississippi Marine Resources Council. Your Complainants would show further that in order to increase the dimension, size, or scope of the rock pile, the Defendants must first obtain a permit from, among others, the United States Army Corps of Engineers.

XII. Your Complainants would show that they are entitled to a hearing on this their Bill of Complaint for Injunction and that after a hearing hereon Complainants will be entitled, on the grounds as alleged, to have an Injunction issued prohibiting the expansion or increase of the rock pile; to have an Injunction issued to remove the rock pile, or in the alternative, to require openings cut into the rock pile sufficiently large so as to allow the free and unimpeded ebb and flow of the tide along the shoreline; to have an Injunction issued to remove any part of the rock pile constituting an encroachment upon littoral or riparian rights of Complainants; and to have an Injunction issued require the restoration of the shoreline as it existed prior to the rock pile being built. Your Complainants would show that these injunctions are essential to justice and that a right exists in Complainant property owners in that they are affected adversely by the rock pile as it presently exists. Complainants would show that there is no adequate remedy at law and that relief by injunction is practicable and can be practically and efficiently enforced. Complainants would show that the injuries done by the rock pile are substantial and that the facts show that injuries, real and irreparable, will occur and continue to occur should the relief herein sought not be granted. Your Complainants would further show that the injunctions prayed for will prevent a multiplicity of lawsuits and that the injunctions are adequate remedies and will proceed to a determination of all the issues presented by this, Complainants' Bill of Complaint for Injunction.

WHEREFORE, premises considered, your Complainants pray that this their Bill of Complaint for Injunction be filed and that proper process issue to the Defendants and that afterwards a hearing be had hereon and that after said hearing this Honorable Court will issue an injunction prohibiting the expansion or increase of the rock pile; that the Court issue an injunction requiring the removal of the rock pile, or in the alternative, require openings to be cut into the rock pile sufficiently large so as to allow the free and unimpeded ebb and flow of the tide along the shoreline of the Complainants' property; that the Court will issue an injunction requiring the removal of any part of the rock pile constituting an encroachment upon the littoral or riparian rights of Complainants; that the Court will issue an injunction requiring the restoration of the shoreline as it existed prior to the rock pile being built; and if mistaken in the relief herein sought, your Complainants pray for such other, further and general relief as in equity they might be entitled to receive, all of which at the cost of the Defendants. Respectfully submitted, Nearly 17 million veterans have taken advantage of the GI Bill in the 33 years since it was launched, but Marilyn J. Cook, Assistant VA Center Director for the Regional Office says Vietnam Era servicemen and women should be the smartest of them all.

That's because 64 per cent of these men and women participated in GI Bill training, compared with a participation rate of 51 per cent of those eligible under the World War II GI Bill and 43 per cent of the Korean Era eligibles.

Not only did Vietnam Era vets outdo their earlier cousins in GI Bill participation, a higher percentage of them took college level training than Korean conflict or World War II veterans. The figures are 34 per cent for Vietnam Era vets, 22 per cent for veterans of the Korean conflict and 14 per cent for World War II GIs.

For the three GI Bills combined, more people - 7.3 million, Cook says - have trained in college than in any other type of training. This is followed closely by non-college level school training (6.7 million), including correspondence school training. A total of 2.1 million persons have taken on-the-job training and more than 800,000 have been farm trainees.

The product

TiO₂ is an inert, non-toxic white pigment used to protect and preserve materials such as wood and steel and to impart whiteness, brightness and opacity to paint, plastics, textile fibers and other products.

Approximately 700,000 tons of titanium dioxide are consumed annually in the United States. It is currently manufactured by DuPont at three locations: Edge Moor, Del.; New Johnsonville, Tenn.; and Antioch, Calif. DuPont considers operations at these plants successful from both technical and community standpoints. The product is also manufactured by several other companies.

The process

DuPont developed the chloride process which will be used at DeLisle. In this process, titanium-bearing ores will be reacted with chlorine in the presence of carbon to produce titanium tetrachloride which, when combined with oxygen, forms titanium dioxide. The titanium dioxide will then be cooled and separated from the chlorine, which will be recovered for use at the beginning of the process.

The pigment will then be chemically treated to impart the required optical and physical properties. Finally, the product will be filtered, washed, dried, ground and packaged in 50-pound bags. It will leave the plant by truck and rail for customers, mostly in southeastern states.

From this process, three waste streams will result. These streams and planned disposal methods are described briefly as follows:

(A) Waste hydrochloric acid produced in the air emission scrubbers will be used, to the extent possible, for process pH control. Approximately one-third of the waste acid may be reused in this manner. The remainder will be injected into deep wells.

(B) The waste chlorides, resulting from chlorination of titanium-bearing ores, will be separated from the chlorinated titanium by a series of condensation steps and combined with the excess waste acid, discussed in (A) above. This combined waste stream will undergo a four-step treatment prior to deep well disposal. The removed solids, primarily unreacted coke and ore, will be neutralized and landfilled in a lined area.

(C) The third major waste stream derives primarily from washing the salts of the finished pigment. The stream will comprise about 90 percent of the total surface discharge stream. The remainder will consist of water blowdown from the cooling towers, the stream generating boilers and the boiler feed demineralizer. The impurities in these streams will consist of the naturally occurring minerals in the freshwater supply and small quantities of water treatment chemicals.

These various saltwater streams will be combined and given a multistep treatment and cooled to reduce their temperature to a level below 95 degrees Fahrenheit prior to release through a system of dispersion nozzles to St. Louis Bay.

Permits

As noted earlier, DuPont has received or has made application for 31 permits for construction and operation from various Federal, state and local agencies. Significant permits for construction and operation include:

(A) Army Corps of Engineers Permit - For the installation of an effluent discharge line into St. Louis Bay (Aug. 6, 1975), Permit No. 74-516.

(B) Permit issued by the Mississippi Air and Water Pollution Control Commission for construction of air emission control facilities (April 9, 1974), Permit Nos. 1020-00115-001, 1020-00115-002, and 1020-00115-003.

(C) National Pollutant Discharge Elimination System Permit (NPDES) issued by the Mississippi Air and Water Pollution Control Commission to discharge treated effluent to the Bay of St. Louis and treated effluent to a deep well injection system issued Feb. 3, 1975.

(D) Mississippi Marine Resources Council Permit - Issued for installation of effluent discharge line across tidal marshland adjoining the plant site (Jan. 28, 1975), Permit No. 74-010.

(E) Mississippi Oil and Gas Board Permit - Issued for drilling, testing and completing a deep well for subsurface waste disposal (July 17, 1975), Permit No. W.O. 14 (July 29, 1974).

Public hearings and comments

A group of 11 persons who have incorporated themselves as Save the Bay Inc. opposes construction and operation of the plant. The group has instituted a number of legal actions against DuPont, the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA), the Mississippi Air and Water Pollution Control Commission and the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers.

These legal actions have been brought in state and Federal Courts. The following is a listing of significant legal actions:

MAWPCC permits

On Feb. 18, 1975, Save the Bay Inc., and George Reiss filed a petition for appeal of the action of the MAWPCC Permit Board granting NPDES and air permits to the DuPont Company for discharges from its DeLisle plant.

On April 18, 1975, arguments were heard on a general demurrer filed on behalf of the MAWPCC which after oral argument and briefing was denied.

On June 18, 1975, the court heard evidence on the question of supersedeas (denied) and also the question of expanding the case to include alleged fraud on the part of MAWPCC. The court declined to issue a stay and held it would not permit the record to be enlarged on the basis of alleged fraud by the commission. The court requested trial briefs be filed and defined the issue as "not whether DuPont would by construction of its plant pollute the Bay of St. Louis, the underground water supply, or the atmosphere (DuPont is not a party to this action) but whether or not the permits were properly issued to DuPont."

On Feb. 3, 1976, the court rendered its opinion finding that MAWPCC and its Permit Board acted neither arbitrarily nor capriciously in this matter, did not unlawfully or unconstitutionally violate the rights of others, and acted within their powers in issuing the permits, and their decision was based upon and supported by substantial evidence.

On March 2, 1976, the Chancery Court denied the appeal of Save the Bay and held the action of MAWPCC and its Permit Board valid.

On March 5, 1976, Save the Bay filed an appeal to the Mississippi Supreme Court.

On Nov. 23, 1976, the Mississippi Supreme Court ruled that Save the Bay Inc. was entitled to a hearing before the MAWPCC on the ground that the Mississippi statute required a hearing by the commission on any sworn petition of an aggrieved party. Such a petition had been filed in 1975. The Supreme Court remanded the appeal to the commission.

Current legal situation

Save the Bay v. EPA (5th Cir.) The Court of Appeals for the Fifth Circuit dismissed the Save the Bay v. EPA case on Aug. 5, 1977. The court held that Save the Bay must pursue its claim that the Mississippi permitting authority be revoked by EPA through administrative proceedings before the EPA. After an administrative record is made, Save the Bay may come back to the Court of Appeals. The Court stated that alleged violations based on a single permit would never, except in the most egregious circumstances, be a basis for revoking a state's permit authority.

As to the issue that EPA should revoke the DuPont permit, the court held that the Court of Appeals did not have jurisdiction to hear the issue. The court went on to add Federal judicial review of a state-issued permit would be in a Federal district and only on very narrow grounds relating to EPA actions in not vetoing a permit.

Save the Bay v. DuPont and the Corps of Engineers. On Aug. 5, 1976, Save the Bay Inc. filed in the United States District Court for the Southern District of Mississippi a complaint against the Corps of Engineers and DuPont over the permit for the proposed outfall line.

Motions for summary judgment were filed by all parties with the court in March 1977. Judge Roper has taken these motions under advisement.

Save the Bay v. MAWPCC and EPA. Save the Bay Inc. filed suit in Federal District Court for the Southern District of Mississippi on July 11, 1977. In that suit, Save the Bay sought a temporary restraining order to stop the hearings being held by MAWPCC and to stop plant construction. Save the Bay also sought to have EPA take over the hearing and revoke the permits issued to DuPont. Judge Nixon, the Federal District court judge, ruled on Aug. 10, 1977, that the temporary restraining order be denied.

a. The continuation of the MAWPCC hearing is in the public interest.

b. Neither MAWPCC nor EPA has authority to stop the construction plant and therefore the District Court does not have such authority.

c. EPA does not have the authority to cancel the permits issued to DuPont by the MAWPCC.

Judge Nixon also heard arguments on the motion to dismiss filed by MAWPCC and EPA. On Aug. 11, 1977, Judge Nixon rendered an oral opinion from the bench granting those motions as being meritorious and thereby dismissed the suit filed by Save the Bay. In his opinion, Judge Nixon noted that he had reviewed the transcripts of the four days of hearings held so far by the Permit Board and had found no indication or evidence that the hearings were being conducted improperly.

MAWPCC Permit Board Hearings. As a result of the November, 1976 ruling by the Mississippi Supreme Court, the MAWPCC has held hearings on two separate occasions - two-day sessions in June and July 1977 in Jackson and Gulfport, Miss. A third hearing date is scheduled to begin Aug. 22, 1977, in Jackson.

PACKAGE LABEL

If food package labels could speak, imagine the cacophony of facts and figures pouring out of every grocery store shelf! Luckily, food labels are "silent communicators," but the wealth of information they contain deserves more than a casual glance if menu planners want to improve food shopping skills.

Information on food packages describes, and usually illustrates, the product inside, allowing shoppers to identify a favorite brand quickly or drawing shoppers' attention to an appealing new food product. The brand name is frequently the food company's name, followed by the symbol (R) which means the name is a registered trademark. The letters "TM" may appear, these indicate a trademark name in the process of registration by the U.S. Patent Office.

Government regulations require a description of the form in which the product is packed. For oats the form could be Old Fashioned, Quick or Instant, clearly printed near the products name.

The net weight, measure or numerical count of a food package's contents helps people select the right size for the family's need. Weight in pounds or ounces (or fluid measurements for liquids) are always listed on the front of the package. In comparing prices consider the price per ounce. Often the larger sizes offer a cost savings, particularly if the product stores well.

Another shoppers' aid provided by food package labels is the food preparation directions, kitchen-tested by the food company's home economists. These provide simplified guidelines for the most enjoyment of the food and are especially helpful whether preparing a product for the very first time, or trying to remember a cooking technique that "worked so well last time."

To set a better table, a wise cook also can rely on the package's nutrition information. This miniature "data bank" of health-minded facts allows the comparison of calories, fat, protein, carbohydrates, vitamins and other key nutrients between several products of the same general classification.

Added to all this, the food package label lists the name and address of the food manufacturer should further information about the product be desired.

If you take a moment to read the label, it can help feed your family more economically and healthfully.

THE OLE PASTOR SAYS...

ONLY GOD'S CHILDREN GO TO HEAVEN! God's children - members of His family - are His heirs. One must be born into God's family. The Fatherhood of God and the brotherhood of all men have been affirmed repeatedly by certain theologians through the years. But such is not the teaching of the Bible. According to the Word of God all men are not by nature members of God's family. Jesus shocked some of the Pharisees, a prominent religious element of his time, by telling them that their rejection of him revealed that the Devil, and not God, was their father - John 8:41-44. The inspired scriptures speak of both the necessity and manner of becoming a member of God's family. In very basic and direct terms Jesus spoke of the absolute necessity of being "born again" in his famous conversation with Nicodemus - John 3:1-8. Even though this deeply religious man, dedicated to the study of and obedience to the Law of God, it was necessary for him to be "born again."

to Buccaneer State Park, Waveland,

Mississippi.

In compliance with requirements of Section 401 of the Federal Water

Pollution Control Act (33 U.S.C. 1251, 1341), the Miss. Park Commission has requested certification from the

Mississippi Air and Water Pollution

Control Commission that the above mentioned activity will be in compliance with applicable provisions of

Section 301 (33 U.S.C. 1311), Section

302 (33 U.S.C. 1312), Section 306 (33

U.S.C. 1316), and Section 307 (33

U.S.C. 1317) of the Act and appropriate requirements of the State law. Any persons wishing to make comments pertinent to this cer-tification must submit such comments in writing to the Mississippi

Air and Water Pollution Control

Commission at P.O. Box 827,

Jackson, Mississippi 39205, before

10:00 A.M. on the third Tuesday following the publication of this notice: at such time, certification will be considered.

News about 4-H

By William Goodwin

COOL IT BEFORE YOU FUEL IT

The family cookout has become a popular American tradition for young and old alike. Unfortunately, the steak on the grill is not always the only meat that gets barbecued. Thousands of chefs and helpers get broiled, too.

Improvised starter fluids such as gasoline or alcohol play a big role in those accidents. Such volatile fuels ignite more quickly than charcoal starter fluid because they vaporize more rapidly and have a lower flash point.

Obviously the cook who adds explosive fuel to an already-burning fire is asking for trouble. He may get away with it a few times, but eventually the odds will catch up with him. The safer approach is to start the fire properly in the first place.

Electric starters are becoming more popular among barbecue lovers. Some backyard chefs use a jelly or solid starter fuel. Others use a chimney device which burns newspaper. Those methods offer some safety advantages, but because they cost more initially, most consumers still use a liquid starter.

The starter fluid will do the job if it's used properly. Start by stacking the charcoal in a pyramid to get maximum air circulation. Then squirt on a generous amount of starter fluid, wetting each briquet.

Wait a minute or two before lighting. This will allow the fluid to soak into the charcoal instead of just laying on the surface. You'll get a slower, more complete combustion as the starter fluid is gradually drawn from the briquet. Don't wait too long; if you light the fire 20 minutes later, you could have an explosive vapor buildup.

You're ready to cook when the coals are covered with white ash; look for a bright red glow at night. Spread the charcoal out in a single layer, extending about an inch beyond the food on the grill. You can increase the heat if necessary by knocking off the ash or moving the coals closer together.

But what if the fire goes out or seems to? Check it cautiously. Poke the coals and fan them to see if they glow. Toss on water to see if steam is produced. Take your tongs and turn over the coals, holding your hand near them to make sure they are cool.

Never add starter fluid to a fire that has any heat! If you feel heat coming from the coals, you've got a temperature over 100 degrees. That's enough to cause some starter fluids to explode, especially if you squirt it on, then throw a lighted match on it.

What can you do if the fire is alive, but feeble? Fan it. The safest way to speed it up is to fan it for a few minutes to give it more air.

Too much air could be a problem on windy days. To start the fire you may have to erect a windscreen or move the grill to a location sheltered from the wind. That doesn't mean indoors, unless you have a well-ventilated fireplace.

At Ole Miss

Abadie named associate dean

Dr. H. Dale Abadie, chairman and associate professor of History at The University of Mississippi, has been named associate dean of the Graduate School; effective this month.

The appointment was announced by Chancellor Porter L. Fortune Jr. following approval by the Board of Trustees of State Institutions of Higher Learning.

"Dr. Abadie is not only endowed with great academic and administrative talents; he is also deeply interested in students as individuals and concerned that these young men and women fully develop potentials in their respective fields," said Chancellor Porter L. Fortune Jr. "I am confident these characteristics will benefit the many important areas served by the Graduate School at Ole Miss." The associate dean has responsibility for policy formulation, new graduate programs, graduate admissions, faculty assistance, graduate fellowships, student records and general administration.

Dr. Abadie came to Ole Miss in 1962 as acting assistant professor of History and became assistant professor in 1967. He has a B.S. in secondary education from Loyola University, M.A. in history from Louisiana State University, and Ph.D. in history from the University of California at Los Angeles.

He is a member of the American Historical Association; Conference on British Studies; Mississippi Historical Society; American Association of University Professors; and North Mississippi Regional Conference for Social Studies. Honorary associations include Omicron Delta Kappa leadership fraternity, Phi Alpha Theta in history and Kappa Delta Pi in education.

Dr. Frederick E. Laurenzo, associate professor of History, will serve as acting chairman of the department.

News in brief

SSC BOOSTERS

St. Stanislaus Band Boosters will meet at 7:30 p.m. Monday, August 29, in band hall.

Parents of band students are asked to attend as important matters will be discussed.

News from St. Ann's

St. Ann's Altar Society will hold its annual picnic for members and their guests Wednesday, August 31, starting at 6 p.m. at Bucaneer State Park.

All members are asked to meet at the pavilion.

When you dig those Irish potatoes in the garden, pick them up and put them in the shade within 30 minutes. Otherwise they'll turn green, warn Extension horticulturists.

Police chief gives thanks to volunteers

Police Chief Douglas Williams of Bay St. Louis has issued a "big thank you" to those persons in the community who volunteered their time and talents during the department's move recently. The police department was originally housed in its new quarters inside the Valena C. Jones Community Complex on Old Spanish Trail, but relocated to alternate space within the structure in an effort to more closely tie its services to that of the fire department.

The chief cited as deserving special praise: Shelton Bermond, and sons Joey and Wayne, for painting inside the quarters; Monroe Jordan, for relocating the radio antenna; Ellsworth Collins, for painting the sign in front of the new police department.

MISSISSIPPI WEEKLY WEATHER & CROP REPORT

FOR WEEK ENDING AUG. 20, 1977

WEATHER SUMMARY (NATIONAL Weather Service): A cold front moved over the state Thursday then became stationary near the Coast Thursday night. Rain was fairly general with many locations measuring substantial amounts on 2 to 3 days. Temperatures were near or slightly above normal. Extremes ranged from 98 at Columbus on the 14th and Tupelo and Cleveland on the 16th to 58 at Oxford on the 19th. Greatest rainfall was 3.33 inches at Hattiesburg on the 18th. During the weekend a stationary front remained over southern Mississippi. Rain was confined to the southern counties.

CROP SUMMARY: Insect control continued to be one of the main farm activities this past week as armyworms were reported in all areas of the state. Hay and silage crops were harvested when weather permitted and farmers began preparing machinery for the fall harvest.

Soil moisture supplies were short to adequate in the northern part of the state and mostly adequate elsewhere. An average of 4.9 days was suitable for fieldwork compared to 5.5 days last week and 6.2 days for the same week last year.

The soybean acreage as 95 percent blooming compared to 94 percent last year and 71 percent for the average. About 68 percent of the crop was podding, ahead of last year's 53 percent, and 4 percent was turning. The acreage was in good to fair condition. About 16 percent of the cotton acreage had open bolls which is well ahead of last year when 1 percent had open bolls and the average of 2 percent. The acreage was in good to fair condition. Rice was 80 percent headed and 7 percent mature. Last year 67 percent of the crop was headed and 4 percent mature. The acreage was in good condition.

Corn was 96 percent denting, 48 percent mature, and 7 percent harvested. This is slightly ahead of last year when 88 percent was denting and 43 percent mature. Corn silage was 65 percent harvested compared to 44 percent last year. The corn acreage was in fair to poor condition. Hay crops were 63 percent harvested compared to 70 percent last year and 66 percent for the average. The sorghum acreage was 54 percent ripe and 13 percent harvested. Last year 35 percent was ripe and 12 percent harvested. About 40 percent of the sorghum silage had been harvested compared to 31 percent last year.

Peanuts were 14 percent harvested. Sweetpotatoes were 13 percent harvested compared to 4 percent last year and 19 percent for the average. Watermelons were 88 percent harvested compared to 91 percent last year and 84 percent for the average. Pastures were in fair to good condition. Pecans were in "mostly fair condition."

"COMMENTS"

DESOLO CO. "Controlling worms in both cotton and soybeans is now the main problem."

MARSHALL CO. "Some few fields of beans have been treated for flower worm, loopers, armyworms and bollworms. They seem to be building up in beans."

UNION CO. "Rain came in parts of county - 2 to 3 inches - other parts just small showers. Insects in both cotton and soybeans are bad."

YAZOO CO. "Yazoo has the potential for a good crop this year. Rain in July and showers in August have provided good growing conditions. Cotton in some areas has become rather rank making insect control difficult. Hot, humid days have provided the conditions for some late season soybean diseases."

RANKIN CO. "Worms seem to be getting out of control in cotton. Too much rain to poison."

LAWRENCE CO. "Rains scattered some parts of county are receiving plenty of rain, while other parts are still in need of rain. Worms are a problem in corn, bermuda grass pastures, and summer annual grasses."

Hancock needs leader

Having only average speed and size to work with, Hancock North Central football coach Irvin Favre is counting on hustle and determination to carry his Hawks this fall as they try to better their 64 record of last year.

"We have only average speed," says the eight year Hancock coach. "As far as size goes I'd have to say we're average there too. Across the line I'd say we average about 175. Our backfield averages about 160 so we don't have any really big people."

Not only do the Hawks lack size and speed, they are also light on returning starters. Hancock lost its entire offensive backfield along with several other starters.

Favre will have only nine seniors back this fall and will look to them for the leadership his young team needs.

"We always count a lot on our seniors and will be this year especially. We have a real young team and will need to get a lot of leadership out of our experienced players. I just hope they can come through."

The Hawks will once again be in the wishbone offense and a six man front on defense. The coach has pretty well chosen his backfield from the list of hopefuls and will start two juniors, a senior and a sophomore in the backfield.

"We have a junior and a senior running neck and neck for the quarterback spot. Vincent Adams is the junior and will probably start ahead of senior Pat Necaise. Both of them were starters as defensive backs last year and did a good job. We want to keep Pat on defense so we will probably start Vincent at quarterback and keep Pat at defensive halfback."

Dennis Nelson will probably start at right halfback. Dennis is a senior and played defense last year. He intercepted 10 passes and we're looking for a lot out of him again this season.

Greg Ladner will probably be our left halfback. He's a sophomore and played some last year. He got a little bit of an edge on everyone else.

Jesse Draime will be our fullback. He started at linebacker last year and will be there again besides going on offense."

Favre claimed that depth will be one of the Hawks' biggest problems this year since he has so many inexperienced players.

"We may have a lot of people out but if they don't have experience they don't do us a lot of good. A lot of people don't see that. They see you with a lot of people on the sidelines and think you have a lot of depth. We will have some new people starting this year and we won't have much experience at all."

The Hawks will open their season on August 3 in Pascagoula against OLV. Favre sees the opener as a tough game and feels his schedule this year is tougher over all than it was last year.

"We play a lot of tough teams this year and have our work cut out for us. I feel that we will still have a good year."

Favre displays the faith he has in his returning starters even if they are few and far between.

Rhodes says Bay improved

After going 0-10 last year, it's easy for Bay St. Louis coach Billy Rhodes to say his team will have a better season this year. With 15 starters back it would be easy for any coach to say he will have a better year.

Rhodes will have good size and speed with this year's edition of the Tigers, but still feels his team is a year away from a championship.

"I don't want to say we can't win the conference championship," said Rhodes. "It's just very hard to go from 0-10 to the championship in one year."

The Tigers will be in a new conference this year after jumping from the Gulf Coast Conference to the Pascagoula River Conference. Rhodes feels this will make his team more competitive.

"Since we changed conferences we will be facing six teams for the first time but I still feel we will be more competitive. The schools we will be playing now have enrollment figures closer to our own."

"There will be three or four teams at the top of the conference that will be real, real tough. They will all be tough but I feel that there will be three or four that really dominate things. Pass, St. John and D'Iberville will all be real tough and that's not counting us. I feel like we will be able to compete with them."

"We will be better than last year. All we have to do is win one game to be better. We will do more than that but I still feel that we are a year away from being a real good team."

Rhodes will go into his second year with the Tigers with 23 lettermen back and some new prospects, he has faith in. The Tigers lost only 10 lettermen and seven starters to graduation. This will give the team more experience than was evident last year, according to Rhodes.

The Bay team will once again be in the I or power I formation on offense and 54 alignment on defense. Calling the signals for the Tigers will be Jr. Dwayne Lafontaine. Lafontaine saw action after quarterback Glenn broke his ankle in the second game of the season.

"Dwayne did a good job for us last year and played most of the season. He will probably be our starter again this year," said Rhodes.

Also in the Tiger backfield will be seniors Roy Shubert and James Coe. Both started for the Tigers last year, and Rhodes expects their experience, along with Lafontaine to help the offense a great deal. Shubert, the fullback, carries 185 pounds while tailback Coe weighs 155. The Tigers will have some new faces on the offensive line with sophomore Hewitt Parsons anchoring things from his center position. Parsons is a new starter on the Tiger team and will go in at 160 pounds. The guards will be 180 pound senior James Craig and 175 pound junior Daniel Edwards. Both were starters for Bay High last year.

At the tackle positions will be veteran senior Jerry Townsend and newcomer Page Hitchcock. Townsend will weigh in at 185 while Hitchcock, a junior, will come in at 205.

The Tigers will have three new receivers in Sonny Palode, Mark Hardee and Blaine Thomas. Both Palode and Hardee are juniors starting for Bay High. Palode, at tight end, weighs 200 pounds while speedster Hardee will play split end at 150 pounds.

The wide receiver for the Tigers will be Thomas at 168 pounds.

On defense the Tigers will start Danny Bourgeois and Socrates Ladner at tackles. Bourgeois, a junior, weighs 230 with Ladner, a senior, at 218. Both were starters for the Tigers last year.

Palode will go both ways for the Bay team playing defensive end as well as tight end. The other defensive end of the Tigers will be Scott Thomas, a 210 pound returning senior letterman.

Shubert will also be going both ways for Bay High, playing fullback and linebacker. The other linebacker will be newcomer John Sealey. Sealey is a 160 pound senior. Edwards will do double duty for the Tigers as well playing guard on both sides of the ball.

At cornerback the Tigers will have Coe on one side and returning letterman Ronald Collins on the other. Collins is a 155 pound junior.

Also in the Bay High defensive backfield will be safeties Tim Deluze and Larry Jackson. Both are 160 pound juniors and are returning lettermen.

Rhodes feels that, although he has a good crop of returning starters, youth will be a drawback on this year's team. "We have more depth than we did last year and that will help," said Rhodes. "We still lack some maturity though. The kids have been through the wars and they have the experience but they are still real young and lack some maturity."

"Right now, our defense is stronger than our offense. That's natural though. Defense comes naturally to them and offense doesn't. We still need a lot of work on our offense and we're working real hard on passing. We plan to pass just about as much as we run," concluded the Bay High boss.

The Tigers' outlook for this season is much brighter than last year. But after going 0-10 whose wouldn't?

SSC counting on spirit

The St. Stanislaus Rock-a-chaws are looking forward to big things this year with 11 starters and 12 lettermen back from last year's 5-6 team. Head coach Bill Poole says his team "will have a little experience" going into his eighth year as the Stanislaus head man. Although his team lacks size and speed, Poole feels spirit will carry them through the year.

"We have about average speed and below average size but this group of kids has the best attitude I have ever seen. We're real big on spirit and desire. That's the biggest point we have in our favor," says Poole.

The Rocks will have the first week of the season open before they go on the road to face Pearl River Central. This time will be used with the defense according to Poole.

"Right now our offensive backs are a little bit ahead of our line but they're all coming along well. We need some work on our defense though. They are behind the offense right now. We will be working real hard on that phase of our game in the next couple of weeks," added the Stanislaus boss.

The Rock-a-chaws will again be using the I formation that carried them through last year. Poole termed the formation as a pro offense and added that the team will use a split backfield or the I formation most of the time.

Junior quarterback Peter Burnheim will call the signals for the Stanislaus team. Joining Burnheim in the backfield will be Greg Hammer at fullback and Bill Kergosien at tailback. Burnheim will weigh in at 160 with Hammer and Kergosien, both seniors, coming in at 168 and 134. Although small, Poole claims that Kergosien can run with the best of them and doubts that the tailback's size will be a factor.

Other Stanislaus starters will be 160 pound Jay Russo at wide receiver, 170 pound sophomore David Murtagh at tight end and 165 pound Fred Keel at split end. On the offensive line for the Rock-a-chaws will be center Bruce Moreally. Moreally, a junior, will anchor the line with his 160 pound bulk. The guard will be senior Mike Cure. Junior Glenn Logan, 180. At tackle positions will be De Handshoe, a 204 pound junior and Gene Rogers a 200 pound senior.

Poole will once again lead the St. Stanislaus team in defense but has not decided on the starting line.

"We still have a lot of work to do on the defense and hard to say who will be starters. Anyone can make the starting lineup added the coach.

Although anyone can make the starting defense lineup, they're going to have to show a lot of that spirit, desire that Poole mentioned as the Rock-a-chaws enter their Pascagoula River Conference season.

Matrana, Elam, named Buccaneer Park royalty

By LEIGH KOHNKE

Cloudy skies and light showers didn't stop the more than 35 participants in the annual Buccaneer Youth Fishing Rodeo last Saturday morning.

Boys and girls, both local and out of state, began arriving as early as 6:00 a.m. for registration. Shortly after, they left the park headed for their favorite fishing spots in hopes of snatching the prize catch.

Top honors, King and Queen Fisherman, were based on the most fish caught in all categories. Plaques were respectively awarded to Chris Matrana, 8, of Waveland with a haul of 50 fish, and Jone Elam, 7, also of Waveland bringing in 31.

Three divisions based upon age offered winners for both the most fish caught and the heaviest fish brought in. Local merchants donated prizes for the competition.

In the 5-8 year old division, Chris Matrana caught 50 fish and won a gift certificate from Happy Days Ice Cream Parlor in Waveland. Jone Elam caught the heaviest fish, a 1 pound trout, and won a gift certificate from the Waveland Drug Store.

In the 9-12 year old division, the most fish were caught by Larry Matrana, 11, of Waveland bringing in 46 fish thereby winning a tackle box and tackle donated by Annie's Pantry in Waveland. Danny Hill, 12, of Bay St. Louis landed the heaviest fish, a 3.5 pound croaker thus winning a crab net donated by Brewster's Hardware in Waveland.

In the 13-15 year old division, Lloyd Elam, 13, of Waveland reeled in 5 fish winning a rod and reel donated by Sportsman's Paradise of Bay St. Louis. The heaviest fish was caught by Jerry Favre, 13, of Bay St. Louis who brought in a 2 pound flounder thereby winning a Zebco Reel donated by Waveland Lumber Company. A random drawing of participants resulted in the following winners:

Jerry Favre, 13, Bay St. Louis - 3 Danny's Fr Chicken Dinners
Yvette Le Febvre, Metairie - 3 Water Bogg Tickets
Gary Joiner, 13, Gulfport Marine Life Tickets
Michelle Dugas, 8, Gretna - 2 Eight Flag Tickets
Cheryl Shiber, Ridgefield Pk., N.J. - 2 Gold Tickets
Terry Joiner, 8, Gulfport Little Italy Pizza.

A special thanks goes out to all the local merchants who cooperated and helped to make our fishing rodeo a success.

Camp Widget '77 is GCMH base

GULF COAST MENTAL HEALTH CENTER
By SUSAN STEVENS

Children experiencing emotional or adjustment difficulties received treatment on a 24-hour basis during the second year of the Gulf Coast Mental Health Center's residential summer program, Camp Widget. This 12-hour therapeutic camp allowed therapists and trained counselors the opportunity to observe the children in social situations and intervene as problem behaviors were demonstrated.

From children in treatment at the Gulf Coast Mental Health Center, 38 between the ages of six and twelve were selected. To be eligible for participation, a child had to be at least average intelligence and willing to participate in the camp activities. Camp Widget, held on the grounds Camp Onward in Bay St. Louis, offered the fun and recreation of swimming, boating, arts and craft drama, organized games, and overnight campouts in near woods.

Counselors were selected from college graduates and undergraduates in the behavioral sciences, and related fields with or counselor for every three campers. Cathy Varble, registered nurse, volunteers for the second years as a full time camp nurse. Each counselor endeavored to establish a close relationship with his or her camper; encouraging them to learn problem-solving techniques and eliciting from them their individual needs.

After camp, feedback was given to parents and to the children's therapists, utilizing the observations and data gathered during camp, to further the children's ongoing treatment at the Gulf Coast Mental Health Center.

The Camp Widget story is available in the form of a slide presentation for any interested civic or community organizations.

(Ms. Stevens, a mental health assistant at the Gulf Coast Mental Health Center with Piji White and Xo Geiselman of the Center staff directed the 1976 and 1977 Camp Widget programs.)

Lawn trimmer recalled by Black & Decker

Black & Decker Manufacturing Company, in cooperation with the U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission (CPSC), this week announced a voluntary recall of approximately 40,000 No. 8209 Type 1 weed and grass trimmers. The trimmers were produced in the spring and summer of 1977, and distributed nationwide.

The orange-colored trimmer has a suggested retail price of $59.99 and uses nylon line to cut weeds and grass. It is sold with an unassembled two-part handle that consumers must assemble prior to use.

According to Black & Decker, engineering tests have indicated that consumers could damage the insulation surrounding the electrical cord when assembling the handle. Such damage could result in serious electrical shock.

Consumers are urged to immediately stop using the No. 8209 Type 1 trimmer and to return it to only a Black & Decker service center or a Black & Decker authorized service center listed in the Yellow Pages. Products subject to the recall will be modified to a No. 8209 Type 2 trimmer at no cost to the consumer.

All No. 8209 Type 2 trimmers incorporate an additional safety feature to safeguard against any future possibility of electrical shock from this problem.

Black & Decker, which informed CPSC of the potential safety hazard on August 1, has mailed certified letters providing recall instructions to all consumers who mailed in the registration card packed with the trimmer.

Consumers who require additional information should place a collect call to Black & Decker, 301-828-2955, between 8 A.M. and 5 P.M. Eastern Daylight Time. Information on the recall is also available by calling the U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission's toll-free Hotline 800-438-2666.

Poole will once again have the St. Stanislaus team in a 53 defense but has not yet decided on the starting lineup.

"We still have a lot of work to do on the defense and it's hard to say who will be our starters. Anyone can still make the starting lineup," added the coach.

Although anyone can still make the starting defensive lineup, they're going to have to show a lot of that spirit and desire that Poole mentioned in the Rock-a-chaws enter their Pascagoula River Conference season.

FLYING SCOT CHAMPION
MARC EAGAN has sailed to victory in Charlevoix, Michigan last week to win the 1977 FLYING SCOT NORTH AMERICAN CHAMPIONSHIP.

Eagan and his crew, Ed Turnipseed and John Levy, demonstrated skill and excellent teamwork as they won all three of their elimination races placing them in the Championship Division of the 89 boat fleet. Eagan then earned two more firsts, a second and a fifth and had already secured his victory in the final race when it was canceled because of heavy winds.

Eagan finished with a score of 8 1/2 over second place Brad Davis of Dallas, Texas, with 13 1/2 and third place Kelson Elam of Austin, Texas, with 14 1/2. Eagan also won the Paul Schreck Trophy for the most first place finishes and the Maxie Elam Trophy for the winner of the Elimination Series.

Eagan had placed second and third in the 1975 and 1976 Flying Scot North Americans, and first and second in the Flying Scot Mid-Winter Championship Regattas. By winning the Championship he has brought quite an honor to Bay-Waveland Yacht Club where he began and has done most of his one-design sailing during the past years.

A victory celebration party was held at BWYC Sunday evening in honor of Marc and his crew upon their return from Michigan.

COCK-OF-THE-WALK
CHUCK BREATH is Bay-Waveland's new Cock-of-the-Walk for 1977, having led the Expert Class since his first race of the season and finishing with a very impressive score of 94. Breath's closest competition was Randy Santa Cruz, who finished second with 94 1/2 in his first year of sailing in the Expert Class.

The final standings of the Expert Skippers who completed their minimum of six races:

CHUCK BREATH	94
Randy Santa Cruz	94 1/2
Marc Eagan	93 1/2
Buzzy Heausler	92 1/2
Bobby Eagan	90 1/2
Charlie Staehle	88 1/2

A shuffleboard tournament for the younger set started last weekend's activities. The competition, with participants between the ages of 7 and 12, was won by Dean Collier, 11 of Nevada; second place was taken by Frank Rodriguez, 12, of Chalmette. Friday night an older version, and according to many film critics, a better version of "A Star is Born" was shown in the Rec. Hall.

Saturday was highlighted by our Youth Fishing Rodeo. Over thirty-five young people participated in the event which began at 6:00 a.m. in the morning. Our sincerest thanks are extended to all the local merchants who, so generously donated prizes for the winners. Saturday night offered both a movie and a volleyball game.

A ping pong tournament Sunday afternoon ended the weekend's activities. Gerard Smith of Gretna claimed top honors, with Mark Jones of Houma placing a close second. Don't forget - beat the back to school blues at Buccaneer!

Turan-Lane Chevrolet, Inc., in Bay St. Louis is happy to announce that Tom McAdams has joined their staff as new car sales manager. He takes the place of Howard Witt who passed away recently. McAdams is well known along the Coast as a retail salesman having several years experience as a Chevy Truck manager. He would like to take this opportunity to invite his many friends and customers to visit him at his new location.

The salt-water scene is still about the same as it has been for the past few weeks, about the only thing different is that the spanish mackerel seem to be moving in a little better and some big reds have been caught. As for specks, there are still a few good catches being made, but the really big catches are almost nonexistent. There are still plenty of jackfish around, un-nerving unsuspecting fishermen.

Fresh-water fishing wasn't as good this week as it should have been mainly because of poor fishing weather. Flyfishing for bream seems to be about the best for fresh-water fishing.

A word of caution to all boaters, while traveling in your boat you should always keep your eyes open for objects in the water in front of you, such as pilings, floating debris, and etc. Hitting such objects could cause extensive damage to your boat and motor, not to mention tossing you from your boat.

If you have never fished with a flyrod, you don't know what you are missing, a flyrod can make even the small ones seem like big ones. The flyrod isn't really all that hard to use; all it takes is a little practice. If you can cast with a flyrod any at all you can probably catch fish.

According to Mississippi Game and Fish officials we should have a banner season for deer this year. The Mississippi deer herd is now estimated to be in excess of 400,000. The thing that should please most deer hunters the most is the fact that because of this abundance of deer Mississippi hunters will be allowed to take a buck a day instead of one per season.

ANSLEY: There hasn't been too much fishing going on because of the rain, but the catches that were made were pretty good. On Sunday Mrs. Sam Myatt caught a 28 lb. red then on Monday Mrs. Myatt and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Hester caught 5 reds between 18 and 30 lbs. each while fishing out of Three Oaks Bayou. Monday, Rodney Warner and Chester Cook caught a nice mess of fish at Heron Bayou. We have live and dead bait, rental skiffs and various accessories.

Roy Baxter, Pearl River Marina.

KILN: The fishing here was pretty good except for the weather. Mr. Whitfield caught a bunch of assorted fish just south of the 603 bridge, he caught some catfish, bass, and gaspergou (fresh-water drum). Mr. Whitfield was using live minnows. Mr. Wallace Hass and his sons and another fishing companion caught about 60 specks at Halfmoon using live minnows. The water is looking pretty good, it is low in the evenings and high in the mornings. The fishing should be good this week. We handle live worms, shrimp, crickets, and minnows along with various equipment to

WILDCATS 1977 - The 1977 edition of the Pearl River Jr. College Wildcats is nearing its first game of the season and according to head coach J. C. Arban will be ready. Arban feels his team has a good chance of repeating as Mississippi state champions this year. The Wildcats will have the services of freshmen Gene and Martin Hoda of St. Stanislaus; Clarence Piazza, Jefferey

Reed, Horace G. Davis and Louis Dunklin of Bay St. Louis; and David Cwartz of Hancock North Central when they take to the field. Among the sophomores on the team are Tommy Longo of St. Stanislaus and Vernon Powell of Bay High.

PRC's Arban confident championship in grasp

POPLARVILLE - Coaches have a natural tendency to never admit just how good he thinks his team will do during the year. It's kind of like chewing tobacco - everyone just expects football coaches to take a good ole chew.

J.C. Arban, head football coach at Pearl River Junior College may be a little different - oh he definitely chews tobacco, but he is also predicting that his Wildcats will have another good year and barring injuries the defending state champs will be right in the thick of the race again this year.

At a press conference Saturday morning, the third year head coach just came out and said it. "We're going to win more than we lose, and if a few young players jell - we'll ..."

That's when the true blooded coach within him showed up, he just couldn't promise anymore.

But looking in his eyes and at the smile on his face, he didn't have to say much more. It's really no use in trying to hide anything from the opponents anyway. All of PRC's competition will be after the Mississippi Junior College Champion. They always are.

Most of this optimism is based on the performance and expected performance of the Wildcat offensive backfield. It is really hard to explain without using a lot of cliches and perhaps a few drums and cheers in the background.

Awesome is a nice word to start with. Experienced - big - fast - shifty - will also do nicely in describing the dozen or more point scorers. Headlining the group are Memphis McAbee, Petal, FB, 192 lbs., strong and fast; James Smith, Pearl River Central, TB, 170 lbs., shifty and even faster; Jesse Carter, Purvis, TB, 165 lbs., fast; Bill Smith, FB, 180 lbs., Pearl River Central, big and strong.

Those are the sophomore running backs with experience and here are the freshmen. Jerry Newsome, Prentiss, FB, 190 lbs., just a whole lot of ability; Amos Hersey, Hattiesburg, TB, 185 lbs., tough; Henry Smith, Poplarville, 155 lbs., speedy, will see some action; Micky Walker, 180 lbs., Picayune, has a lot of speed and quickness; Jeff January, RB, 176 lbs., Petal, very impressive.

At quarterback is Jeff Davis, a Hattiesburg sophomore with experience, size and a good throwing arm. Backing him up will be Joey Howard, Poplarville and David Wyman of Morgan City, La. Arban says both will be able to play for Davis. At tight end will be Charles Pittman, a Columbian sophomore, that can play where he is needed. Pitt also performs the punting chores and can play full-back and linebacker if needed.

Andy Thames, Blair and Billy Amacker of Poplarville have good hands and speed.

Dodd Lee, a Picayune sophomore, is the starting wide-out at this time. Not much depth at this position.

The Wildcats are not without weaknesses. A major problem will be in the trenches. "Offensively up front I'm still not sure," Arban said. "We have some size and experience but not as much as I would like." Stalwarts will be Derrick Banks, 265 lbs., tackle, Lumberton; Winston Herndon, 220 lbs., guard, Poplarville; Tom Longo, 220 lb., center, St. Stanislaus; Kevin Avin, 235 lb., tackle, Picayune; and freshman David Graham, 210 lbs., guard, Purvis.

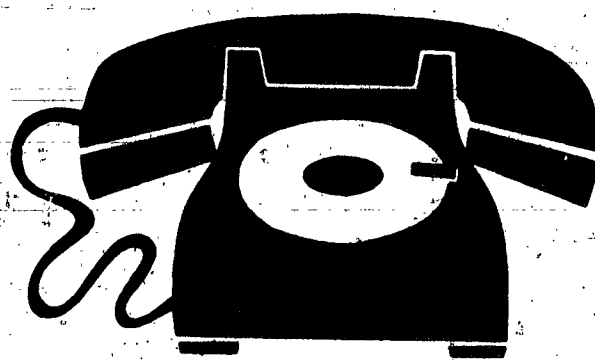

Defensive starters include Randy Russell, 200 lbs., nose guard, Picayune; Johnny Malone, 210 lbs., Hattiesburg; Roy McNair, 216 lbs., Petal; Bill Stringer, 205 lbs., defensive end, Poplarville; and Kim Grayson, 200 lbs., DE, Brooklyn.

Linebackers will be returners Andy Robertson of Columbia and Frank Newsome of Hattiesburg. Robert May of Poplarville will be at the monster position. At cornerbacks will be speedsters Paul Montgomery and Ellis Spann of Hattiesburg. Freshman Kent Blankenship, also of Hattiesburg will be starting.

"We have a pretty good little ole group," Arban said, "and I'm pleased with practices so far." Good hustle, enthusiasm and attitude were evident during the first week of practice.

Argan did warn that injury the failure of one to play in certain spot could turn the season around for the worse. Depth will be our biggest problem.

"Our goal is to win them," Arban said, "But more importantly we want to play our best - always giving the best effort possible. I don't want to lose any games because we were not ready and cause too many mistakes did not have enough knowledge."

Pearl River is a Veer team at Arban said he will run the fishbone some in order to use free running backs instead of in the backfield. "But we will be able to pass," Arban added.

Van Schultz elected to trade board

Van A. Schultz of Dillman, Inc., Bay St. Louis, was elected a director of the Mississippi Roofing Contractors Association last week at the group's first annual convention in Biloxi.

The association was formed over a year ago to establish a code of ethics and objectives for the roofing contractors of this state.

Others named to serve were: James A. Cooper, Sr., president; Ronald Pace, vice president; R. Hill, secretary-treasurer.

Principal guest speaker at the convention was Rep. Trent Lott who charged each member to uphold the high standards of experience, integrity and reliability upon which the association was formed.

New advance payment procedures for GI Bill students have been changed. Contact the Veterans Administration today.

"Memorial gifts are being received by the Heart Association in memory of Elvis Presley.

Acknowledgements of these gifts are being made to Mr. Presley's father in Memphis. These contributions may be mailed, called in, or delivered to the Mississippi Heart Association, 4830 East McWillie Circle, Post Office Box 16063, Jackson, MS 39206, telephone 981-4721."

Senator Alexander continued: "Mrs. Elizabeth Hill, President of the Elvis Presley Fan Club has encouraged Mississippians to make memorial gifts to the Heart Fund as a lasting tribute to the late Mississippi entertainer. Monies received will be used to help reduce the toll of the Nation's number 1 killer, heart disease, which took the life of the 42-year-old Mississippi native."

RECREATION

The dining room of the Senior Citizens Center in Bay St. Louis, resounded with joyous shouts and birthday greetings to the following Seniors who celebrated birthdays in August. They were: Blanch Collins, 74, Raymond Williams, 75, Zenobia Glibert, 80, and Mr. Rawhouser, 67, all years young.

Every month throughout the years, we honor our Senior Citizens who have birthdays. Seniors, if you know of a Senior who has a birthday, bring them down to the Center so that we may honor them. The birthday party takes place on the 4th Monday of every month.

Monday, August the 22nd, 75 Senior Citizens enjoyed the entertainment and refreshments that followed; a special thank you is extended to Louis Burghard who once again came to our rescue and played the piano for all the Seniors, plus playing the background music for Fred Horn from our Recreation Department who entertained the Seniors with a melody of greeting songs entitled, "Hello" "Hi" "Neighbors," and "How do you Do," followed by a comedy song dedicated to Joe Petta, called "I Can't Get Her Started."

An impersonation of a man intoxicated, singing "My Blue Heaven," and closing with musical impressions (throat sounds) of a guitar, trombone, bass fiddle and trumpet. The Seniors then joined in a community song fest, singing old time songs, "Skip to My Loi," "On Top of Old Smokey," "My Wild Irish Rose," "Mary is a Grand Old Name," "After the Ball is Over" and "He's Got the Whole World in His Hands." All the Seniors are to be congratulated, as everyone really resounded with gusto during our community song fest.

Many thanks to our R.S.V.P. Volunteers: Mrs. Georgia Diebold, Rose Kennedy, Honorine Hughes, Eva Ruhr, Jewel Stratton, who baked the cakes and also our Volunteers: Georgia Diebold, Annie Sulzer, Julia Leddy, Ethel Dorman and Rose Kennedy, who served the refreshments.

The Seniors and I thank Hugh Miller for Setting up the P.A. System.

The Door Prize compliments of Little Caesar Restaurant, Hwy. 90, Waveland. Dinner for Two was won by Hazel Buckley.

I & R DEPARTMENT
Welcome back home Gloria, we at the Center missed you. Gloria Madere, by the way, is our Co-ordinator for the Information and Referral Department at the Center.

RUG MAKING CLASS
We now have 12 members participating in our class which, by the way, is a compliment to our instructor, Al Russo, a retired rug manufacturer, who makes the sessions very interesting.

The class meets every Monday from 10:00 A.M. to 11:30 A.M.

KILN SENIOR CITIZENS CLUB

Thursday August 18th from 12 noon on, through to 1:30 P.M., 25 Seniors enjoyed the games and refreshments that followed. Fred Warner must carry a four leaf clover, a rabbit's foot and a bunch of lucky items in his pocket, as he was a four time winner. One of the prizes was a chicken dinner donated by Annie's Pantry located in "Our Shopping Center" in Waveland. Our personal thanks to Annie's Pantry for the donation.

Talk about four leaf clovers and rabbit's foot, Verina Deschamp was a 3 time winner. Other lucky winners were, Rena Traviria, Effie Mazarakes and Denis Green. We are sorry to hear that Elmer Necaise has been hospitalized. Our best wishes for a speedy recovery, Elmer.

PEARLINGTON

For 1977-'78 school year

Pearl River Junior College announces faculty; building construction, renovations, objectives told POPLARVILLE Dr. Marvin R. White, president of Pearl River Junior College, welcomed more than 130 faculty and staff members, from all three PRC campuses, here Friday morning in officially kicking off the 1977-'78 school year.

"Our paramount aim is to help each individual become more capable of living happily among his family and friends and of making the best contribution as a citizen to his or her community, state and nation," Dr. White told the instructors.

According to the president, the institution has the responsibility for adequately preparing young people in our area for first and second year college level work at senior colleges and universities and for training technicians and craftsmen and for offering adult education courses and continuing education.

"Our job is to meet human needs in the area of post-secondary education in our six counties," the president said. Pearl River serves the counties of Pearl River, Hancock, Forrest, Marion, Lamar, and Jefferson Davis.

Highlights of the summer was the completion of the renovation of the old Fine Arts Building. It is now known as the Marketing and Distributive Technology Building. The public relations department will also be housed in the building.

Work is also moving along satisfactorily on the Auto Mechanics Building and the contract will be awarded soon on the construction of a vocational-technical center in Lamar County.

Seven faculty members were attending their first faculty meeting at PRC. Barbara Dell Hitt will teach speech; Mary Peddicord will teach English and serve as chairman of the English Department; and Ann Dauenhauser will serve as assistant librarian.

Four new faces also to be seen around the nursing department include: Sandra Clawson, Elaine Kersh, Donna Rushton, and Sylvia Stockstill.

Dr. White called on all the faculty members to put forth their best effort. "Each of you have been employed here because of your particular educational background and experience and your talents and skills in the field of education."

"You are the best instructors in the country in your particular area," Dr. White said.

Dormitories opened Sunday afternoon and registration, was held Monday and Tuesday. Regular fall classes began on Wednesday.

Homicide is topic studied

by Waveland PD

Robert G. Tartavouille and Sandra F. Henley, investigators, Waveland Police Department, have completed a course for homicide investigators at the Louisiana District Attorneys Association, Southeast Regional Homicide Seminar, New Orleans, La., according to Waveland Police Chief Donald A. Dorn.

Dorn said the course focused on crime scene investigation, toxicology, insanity defense, dental evidence, vehicles and violence, questioned documents, skeletal remains, time of death, physical evidence, family violence, trace evidence, and others.

The seminar was held in conjunction with the American Academy of Forensic Science and instruction included recent developments in several fields of scientific criminal investigation.

"Approximately 150 criminal investigators from 15 states participated in the seminar," Dorn allowed.

School Zone speed observance asked

Hancock County motorists have been alerted by the American Automobile Association (AAA) to observe all school zone speed restrictions, particularly during the first few days of classes.

The return of another school year, means extra alertness and caution will be required from all motorists in order to make it a safe and productive one, AAA said in announcing the start of its annual, "School Open" campaign.

"Each year we hear the tragic news that youngsters on the way to school were killed or seriously injured in an automobile accident," said Clem Buckman, traffic safety manager for AAA's Central Gulf Division. "Drivers must constantly be reminded, just as kids must be, that school's open again and it's time for drivers to slow down in school zones and time for kids to be extra cautious while going to school."

"That's why we at AAA get so involved in our annual 'School's Open-Drive Carefully' campaign, Buckman said.

"It's very important for drivers to be alert for youngsters sharing streets and roadways as they go to and from school. Motorists who have ignored school crossings and advance warning signs all summer must now remember to pay special attention to these necessary traffic signals," he concluded.

Buckman pointed out several guidelines which should govern motorists and parents during the first weeks of the school year:

"Many children know next to nothing about pedestrian safety rules, and even those who do are likely to forget them when in pursuit of a rolling ball or a wind-tossed school paper."

"When in a school zone, watch for reduced speed limit signs that are installed in many communities when classes are in session."

"Remember the law about stopping when you see a halted school bus. At the same time, keep in mind that this rule may condition children to dart in front of a public bus."

"Watch for youngsters riding bicycles. They may appear suddenly from a blind spot near a car. "If you are a parent, help your child by mapping out his or her safest walking route to school. If children ride a school bus, let them walk to the stop. Traffic hazards near schools multiply when children are dropped off and picked up in family cars."

Buckman, aiming at zero casualties in Hancock County, appealed to all citizens to give full-fledged support to the "School's Open-Drive Carefully" program. "With everyone's support, I can guarantee success," he said.

Phone book deliveries

now underway

South Central Bell began delivering nearly 110,000 copies of the Mississippi Gulf Coast's new telephone directory on August 17.

The company's District Manager, F.M. Kyle, Jr., said it will require about two weeks to deliver the new books. "We anticipate that delivery will be completed by Aug. 31" Any customer who does not receive his directory by Aug. 31, can get one by telephoning the business office," he added.

Kyle said the front cover of the new directory features a color scene of the Mississippi Coast Coliseum and Convention Center. The circulation of much referred to directory, here and throughout the county should serve to promote this facility and the Mississippi Gulf Coast.

According to South Central Bell, too few recipients are likely to devote more than a passing glance to the directory's first few pages—known as the "Call Guide."

Kyle says many telephone users are not aware of the variety of helpful information the Call Guide pages contain.

"Most important," he emphasized "is the portion devoted to emergency numbers. This can be even more valuable if you take time to study it carefully before an emergency. You should also write in special numbers you might need later, such as the number of your personal physician."

In addition, "Kyle said, "the Call Guide in the new Mississippi Gulf Coast directory tells how to place local and long distance calls, how to reach the telephone company business office and other helpful information."

The Call Guide also includes a handy list of area code numbers for use in making long distance calls.

Shuttle fuel tanks stress tested at Huntsville, Ala.

The first in a series of test programs to verify that the Space Shuttle's large external propellant tank can withstand the structural stresses of its flight toward Earth orbit; began this week at the Marshall Space Flight Center, Huntsville, Ala.

The fuel tanks will be joined to engines test-fired at NASA-NSTL, Hancock County, prior to the shuttle being launched onto its space run.

Due to the huge proportions of the external tank, testing will be conducted in phases. This first series of tests is devoted to checking out the "intertank" structure, which joins the two main segments of the external tank.

Intertank testing is especially critical to the program since the intertank contains the forward attach points for the Space Shuttle's two solid rocket boosters. Heavy loads will be exerted at the attach points both when the Space Shuttle is resting on the pad and during flight when the boosters are thrusting.

The intertank was designed and fabricated by the Martin Marietta Corp. at the Marshall's manufacturing facility, Michoud Assembly Facility, New Orleans, Louisiana. It was received at Marshall March 12, 1977.

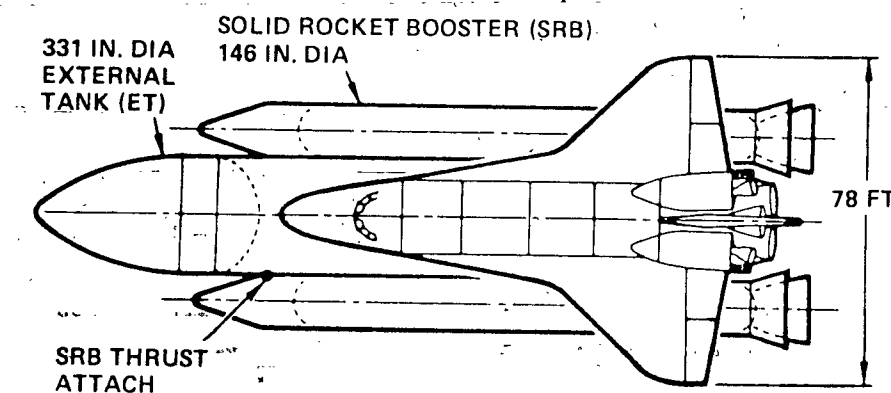

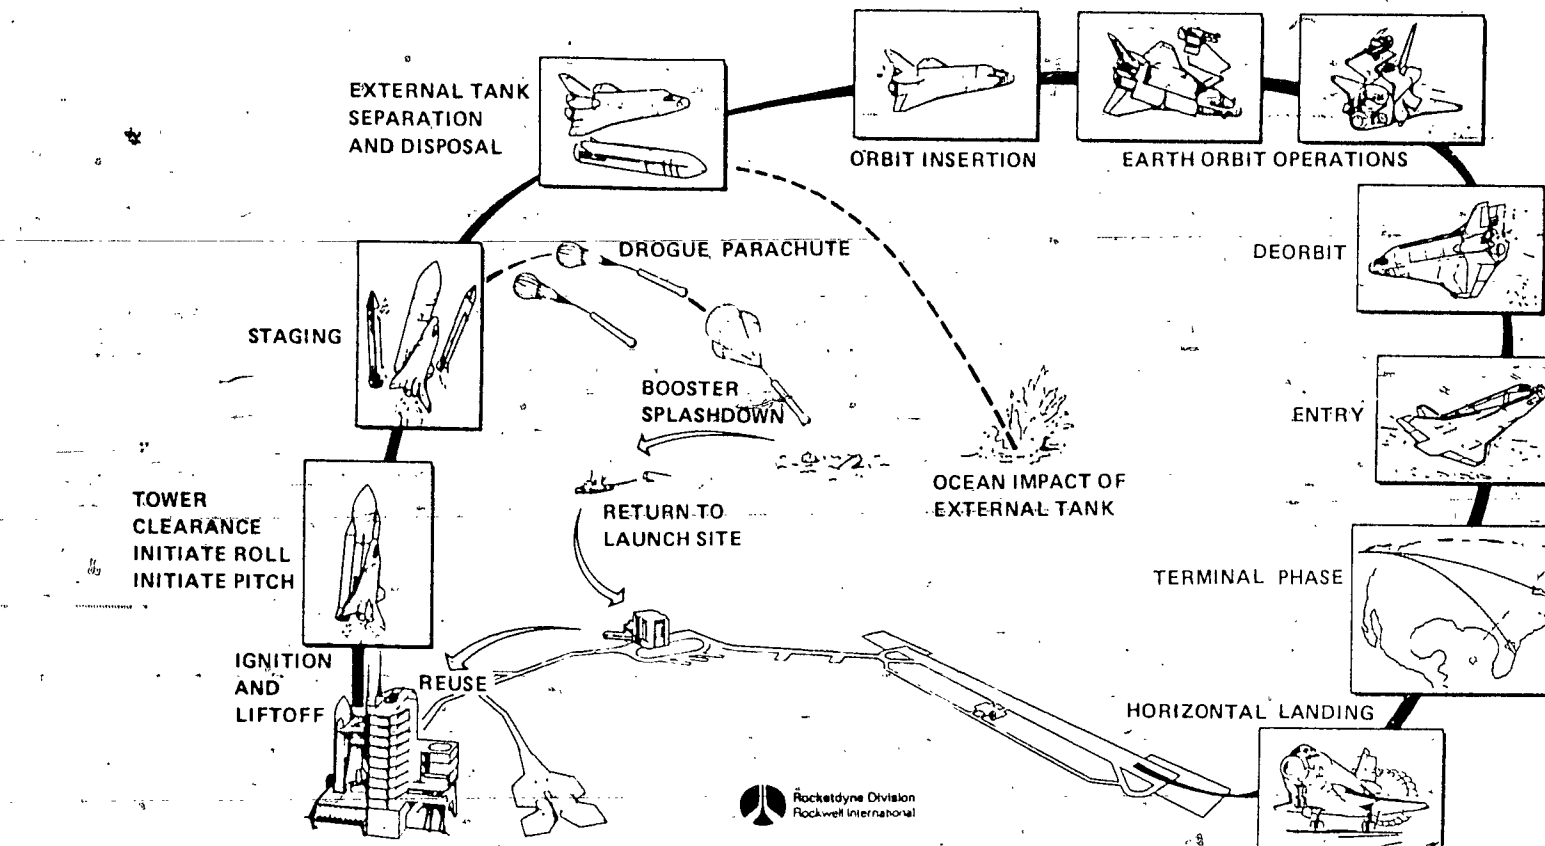

The intertank is a 6.85-meter (22-and-one-half-foot) long section of the external tank. The complete tank is 47 meters (154 feet) long.

During the tests, loads as high as 4.35 million pounds will be applied upward to the cylindrical intertank, which will also be subjected to opposing downward forces. The loads will be applied by large hydraulic jacks actuated by computer commands.

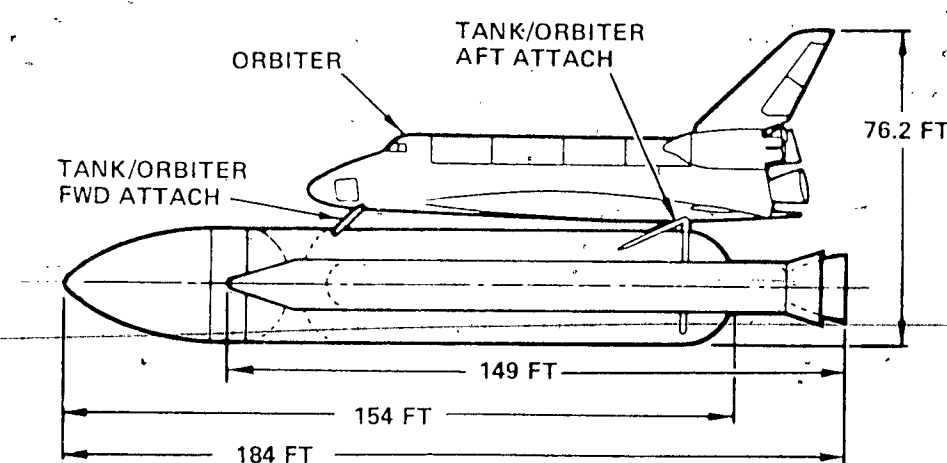

Twenty-eight of these jacks will be positioned at the forward end of the intertank test article with as many as ten in use in the center section.

"We've assessed the entire mission profile of the Space Shuttle on the pad and during the launch until the external tank is separated," said Chuck Verschoore, Marshall's
